

Here's How Our Testing System Works

GLES has installed the test forms on your CourseSite. The test items are stored on our server.

Your CourseSite is hosted by Blackboard on a remote server. It is completely separate from your institution's online courses.

Your CourseSite is created and maintained for you by GLES, but it belongs to you, and you can add features of your own.

Your CourseSite

GLES Server

Our server feeds test items to your CourseSite.

You and your students use CourseSites accounts that are created and configured by GLES.

You use your TA account to set up tests.

Your students use student accounts to take tests.

You use your TA account to download results.
